Erosion Study Wins Carmel Pine Cone Conservation Prize

By Owen Kearns, Sophomore

May 29, the science awards were presented at Carmel High School. The Carmel Pine Cone donated the awards to the students for their work on conservation. This subject emerged this year as a practical problem because a gully formed on the new Carmel High baseball field from the run-off rain water. The problem was brought to the biology students by their teacher Miss Enid Larson. The students spent approximately three months in working out biologically-sound answers to the problem which was how to stop the erosion and how to cope with further soil disturbances.

A pile of soil and rocks was discovered on the land adjoining the biology room. After permission was secured to use this pile, the various classes divided the pile of stones into a model of the baseball field with its gullies. With the help of these models the classes set up experiments and controls in an attempt to stop the erosion.

However, as yet, no conclusion can be accurately made; but all the students who participated in this project, regardless of the fact whether they won awards or not, gained a great wealth of worthwhile knowledge of land problems and conservation.

The winners of the Pine Cone Conservation awards were the following students:

First place: Karen Oleson, Sue Mitchell, Linda Langshaw, and Sandra Gardner; second place: Pete Hensel and Rock Scully; third place: Rick Ameil and Ron Hinchcliff; honorable mention: Gregg Scherman.

Carmel To Lose Five Pines, One Palm By City Council Action

Six old friends are about to leave the Carmel scene. Last night the city council passed the death sentence on the following bark and needle citizens: Big pine on San Carlos between Ocean Avenue and Sixth (already dead, and now dangerous, says the council), the two pines nearest the Carmel Christmas Tree in the Ocean Avenue center strip at Mission Street (infested with borers), a pine on the west side of Monte Verde Street between Second and Fourth (Mr. M. S. Hughes has planned his driveway so that it interferes with the pine).

The council by a three to two vote gave Mr. S. Allen Agnew permission to cut down a palm tree that has graced the west side of Carmel between Eighth and Ninth Streets for many years. The palm would over-shadow the house he intends to build, was the reason for his request.

Mayor Horace Lyon and Councilman Francis Whitaker voted no, on the contention that there was no justification for cutting down a healthy, vigorously growing tree that was not providing a hazard of any sort, nor interfering with access to the property.

The other members said it wasn't a pretty tree.

Councilman Whitaker commented that that was a matter of taste, that the health of a tree, not whether or not it appealed to the aesthetic sense of one or more of the council members, should

Council Deprives Dogs Of Freedom In Residence Dist.

After Monday, dogs and other pets found running loose anywhere in Carmel and on the beach will be picked up by the County Pound Patrol, whether or not the animal is licensed.

The City Police Department will co-operate, notifying the County Pound of loose dogs the officers may see as they patrol the town.

The Carmel City Council held first reading of an amendment to the Dog Licensing Ordinance last night which requires owners to confine their pets. At a special meeting Monday at 4:30 o'clock the amendment will have second reading and become effective.

Council Disagrees Over Appointment Of Smith To Plan Board

The city council approved Mayor Horace Lyon's recommendation of Hugh Smith for appointment to the planning commission last night. He will succeed Mrs. Hurd Comstock whose term expired several months ago and who did not wish to continue.

There was one no vote. Councilman Francis Whitaker objected because Mr. Smith is not a Carmel resident and because the council had agreed, after the flare-up when the last planning commission appointment was made, that in the future each councilman would have an opportunity for an interview with the candidate. This procedure was not followed.

Mayor Horace Lyon spoke of the difficulty of getting someone to serve on the planning commission. Mr. Smith had lived in Carmel most of his life and moved outside the city limits only several months ago. "Here we have a qualified man, willing to serve and enthusiastic."

Mrs. Geraldine Smith, in the audience, protested the appointment of a non-citizen to the commission, as did several others.

William Culver said: "What frightens everybody away from serving on the planning commission is that monstrosity hanging over Carmel, the master plan. If the council would throw the plan out and let the planning commission get down to earth, I think your troubles finding people to serve would be over."

Your editor suggested that the time might have arrived for the council to disband the planning commission as had been done in the past when planning commission and community became too seriously at odds. In Carmel, the

Free Classical Record Program Friday

The 19th in a series of recorded Classical Music Concerts will be given Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Carmel Craft Studios. Included in the program this month will be Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 by Liszt, The Moldau by Smetana, Violin Concerto No. 2 by Bruch, Overture to the Barber of Seville by Rossini, Operatic Arias sung by Roberta Peters, and Death and Transfiguration by R. Strauss.

These concerts of Classical Music are given on the first Friday of every month, and are open to the public without charge. The coffee bar will be open during the evening. Records are furnished by Maüsita Jennings and high fidelity equipment by Bayard Wiest.

An outbreak of rabies on the Peninsula and an urgent request from County Health Officer Dr. Myron B. Husband forced the city council to take action which they felt is contrary to the spirit of Carmel where everybody, including dogs, is guaranteed as much freedom as is practicable.

"This is going to be unpopular," Councilman Jim Buffington observed, "I've had phone calls from people who said their dogs were vaccinated and licensed, and their dogs were used to running loose. It will be difficult to confine them."

"I've had calls, too," said Mayor Horace Lyon. "One person said, 'This is the destruction of the last vestige of Old Carmel,' but I wouldn't want to see a child bitten by a mad vestige of Old Carmel."

"I have a dog which is vaccinated and licensed, and he's used to running loose but I don't think I'll mind keeping him confined in this emergency. This is serious," said Councilman Francis Whitaker. He recalled that there had been a rabies epidemic in 1942 which resulted in a year-long quarantine. The County is seeking co-operation of city governments and pet owners. If this doesn't stop the spread of rabies, the health department will put the Peninsula under quarantine.

Carmel is the only city in the county which permits dogs to run loose in the residence districts. (They are not allowed unleashed in the business district) and to assure pet owners that the withdrawal of their special privilege to permit the dogs to roam the residence district is only for the duration of the emergency, the Council asked City Attorney John Morse to add to the amendment provision that it would be effective for one year only.

Meanwhile, Dr. Husband has set up rabies vaccination clinics in Salinas and on the Monterey Peninsula. The clinics are sponsored jointly by the Monterey Bay Veterinarians Association and the County Health Department. Owners may have their pets vaccinated at $1.50 per animal. Carmel's clinic will be held on June 14 from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the Carmel Fire House.

Dr. Husband told the Pine Cone: "The seriousness of the rabies outbreak cannot be over-stressed and the present epidemic can be brought under control only by having all pets vaccinated against this dread disease. All residents are urged to protect themselves and their pets by taking advantage of the vaccination clinic and to urge their neighbors to do likewise."

ANTI-ATOM BOMB TESTS PETITION CIRCULATES

A petition, sponsored by the Friends Society (Quakers) of the Monterey Peninsula, will be available at tables in front of the post office and Bank of Carmel tomorrow for those who wish to sign.

It asks President Eisenhower to order discontinuance of tests of the atom bomb.

SAN CARLOS AGENCY WINS FIRST-HALF

Manager Jack Miller's San Carlos Agency team outlasted a closely-bunched field to cop first-half honors in Carmel's newly-formed Little League. President Bill Woolsey's circuit of little pastimers enjoyed a highly successful first round with all the teams winning a fair share of the games and improved play being the rule right down the line from the farm teams to the first-half winner. The following players carried San Carlos to the first-half title: Lyndon Mahrt, Dick Hubbell, Gary Moffatt, Dick Hurlburt, Pete Conway, Danny Holman, Bill O'Neill, Jay Miller, Padgett Decker, Matt Little, Roy Bennett, Chuck Casey, Jeff Zils, Tim Hudson, and Dick Houck.

Second-half play got off to a flying start with all four teams locked up in a first place tie with 1-1 records. Boys Town clipped the Sport Shop, 19 to 1, as the Sport pitchers found the plate moving around and gave up 18 free trips to first. David Harber pitched the win for Boys Town. Pilot Market parlayed the steady pitching of David Cox and the home-run slugging of Forest Cornwall into a 10-1 win over San Carlos Agency. Cox held the first-half champs to a pair of hits while Cornwall boomed two four-master out of the park. Lew McCreery's Sport Shop crew hit the win column by clubbing Pilot Market, 8 to 4, as Joe Sponsler and Bob Baumann held the Market boys to four hits. Dave Cox and Sponsler hit home runs in this one. San Carlos got back on the win trail at the expense of Bill Rosenkranz's Boys Town club, trimming them, 11 to 2, as Danny Holman tossed a two-hitter. Dick Hubbell and Dave Rosenkranz hit for the circuit in this game.

League action continues tonight with Pilot Market crossing bats with the Boys Town nine. Saturday afternoon's farm team play matches Dr. Pepper with Wilder & Jones and Nikko's with Richardson and Aitken.

SEVENTY BOYS RECEIVE SPORTS AWARDS AT CARMEL HIGH

Spring sports attracted a record turnout at Carmel High School this year with seventy athletes receiving letter awards in track, golf, baseball, swimming, and tennis. Three top lettermen for the total school year were Clyde Klauermann, Charley Dawson, and Art Wilkerson. These lads earned three varsity letters apiece, all three lettering in football and basketball. Wilkerson and Klauermann picked up blocks in track while Dawson earned his third monogram in baseball. At the awards assembly, Clyde Klauermann was given a lifetime pass to all sports events at Carmel High and also received a handsome trophy for being the outstanding athlete of his class. Phil White and Don Petty earned trophies from the Carmel Lions Club for breaking school track records. Petty established a new shotput mark while White soared to a new height in the pole vault.

A Carmel Honeymoon . . .

by GLADYS SILVA

A honeymoon is wonderful anywhere but in Carmel it can be something special. In 1914, 43 years ago, before everybody and his brother stayed awake nights to figure out some reason for coming here, the Abbott Silvas fell into the nicest bit of luck, an invitation from the senior Silvas to spend a month's honeymoon with them.

Dad Silva was William Silva, one of the first artists to locate permanently in Carmel. About 1912 he and Mother Caroline Silva built their attractive redwood home on Carmelo Street with the little Carmelita Gallery facing San Antonio below them.

First of all was the lure of the Pacific. At that time we could look from our big plate glass window and watch the waves rolling in on the beach unobstructed by cypress.

It turned out to be a prolific year for kelp which made for much fun. Dad Silva, for instance, discovered an odd looking tangle of it which he promptly labeled his oboe. This he manipulated with tone accompaniment to the edification of an appreciative audience. I understand this entertainment with the desiccated oboe went on for years.

Many days we took long hikes—we called them tramps—along the dunes and beach, over the Pebble Beach property and through the woods. Sometimes Mother Caroline carried her basket along for mushrooms. Obviously and fortunately she knew the edible varieties.

On all of our explorations the bride tramped happily, unhampered and unimpeded by long skirts whipping around her ankles. That was the style and we didn't know any better. As son Bill says, "It was the dark ages, Mom."

Because we walked, no less, everywhere, Mother Caroline, Abbott and I set our faces toward Monterey one morning. Through the Carmel woods we padded along Indian fashion, finally coming out on what is now known as Highway 1. Once in town we ate our delicious fish luncheon at Pop Ernst's, and the wharf and strolled the streets. It was probably the other way around, eyed the stores then did the wharf since Mother Caroline culminated her shopping with the purchase of a big, restless lobster which was securely confined in a shopping bag.

Abbott carried the bag, and my chief concern as we rode home in the bus was what would happen trant teeth were born and all was well again.

This brought us up to Christmas time. We gathered in greens for the house and logs for the wide stone fireplace. Friends strolled in and out, and on request Mother Caroline played carols and spirituals on the quaint spinet piano.

Christmas Eve a group gathered to sing carols around town. The physical mechanics of perambulating around Carmel at night isn't too good even now. You can imagine it was no easier 43 years ago. Especially for me who is as blind in the dark as the much maligned bat. Most of us carried lanterns or Carmel-lights (candles protected by chimney lamps) but I never seemed to step where the light was. And with those long skirts! I was glad when we stopped to carol. It gave opportunity to build up courage to keep going. Everybody said it was fun and would do it again next year. Fine. At home in Montana I would be singing carols inside. There probably would be a foot of snow and zero weather outside.

One of our musts was a tour to the Mission. The Mission then was only the one original building standing alone in its simple beauty of historical background and religious significance. We found the doors locked, but a sign directing to the house near by where we "collected" a dear little girl who carried the big key which unlocked the heavy door. Inside we were permitted to look and walk about, a sensitive experience for two people who hold the greatest admiration and respect for those early trail builders.

When we left the mission we took a picture of our small guide holding the long key horizontally which reached almost across her slender self.

if those wiggling claws should suddenly reach out far enough from the mesh to make a pass at some unsuspecting leg. But all stayed under control.

Besides the lobster I saw abalone prepared for the first time. All of us pounded and pounded and pounded the unappetizing grey slabs of toughness. I needn't have worried. Mother Caroline turned it out luscious enough for Royalty.

Dad Silva took us all in tow one heavenly blue day when his Muse lured him Point Lobos way. We carried our lunch, and you can bet we were ready for it after walking from home. We left Dad sketching, and wound our way undisturbed over rocks and through woods. There were no signs, paths, prohibitions. We observed the beauty as it unfolded before us. Later we walked back to town. A full day!

To dispose of the wonders of Point Lobos in one paragraph is truly unforgivable.

In the midst of this unforgettable vacation I had to happen to me! I labored through the agony of cutting TWO wisdom teeth. I couldn't eat a bite of food. In fact, it was utterly impossible to open my jaws except to swallow a drink of water. Now you can understand what this did to my morale suddenly no fun at all. I might as well have had measles or even small pox. All invitations had to be refused with what is now called rain checks.

Finally when I felt as if I might as well be dead my almost new husband sprang a brilliant idea. "Why not," says he, you and I go up to San Francisco for a few days? Nobody knows you up there, nor cares whether you eat or talk. We'll look around the Exposition. Maybe the change of scenery with the exception of me will snap you out of it."

So we deserted Carmel for a few days, and it worked! The calci-

One person I meant to see before we left Carmel was a dear lady who was related to friends of ours elsewhere. She, Emmaline Harrington, served us tea one afternoon. In addition she brought out a kodak book—you know what I mean—of family pictures, and called attention to one which showed me as a tiny girl playing with her niece. This proved to everybody present that I had been a child, and also verified a family friendship. I was fortunate in recent years to have chatted several times with Miss Harrington.

I must not forget to mention the many times we took our lunches down to the beach where we sat in the shadow of the mammoth rocks and gazed out over the wide, wide ocean toward the Islands, or Japan. We took lots of pictures to later refresh our memories.

There was one special beach supper when we all gathered driftwood for the fire, first for cooking the steaks, then for sitting around, singing, telling stories—and believe me, they were a great crowd for doing just that. Among the family friends were Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their little daughter. One of our pictures shows busy Jean warily poking up the fire. Maybe we could say she is still right there when it comes to stirring up a healthy brand of political awareness. Jean Chitwood now.

Our honeymoon month reached its end. Forlornly, but with a wealth of happy memories we said farewell to our dear family and many friends, not overlooking a last, long view of beautiful blue Carmel Bay.

Nix Ballet Academy In Seasonal Recital

With flowers in their hair and wearing their crispiest little organdy dresses, the students of the Joanne Nix Ballet Academy were presented last week in a series of five evening performances of their regular spring dance recitals.

Before audiences of parents and friends, the performers displayed their dance ability in such forms as the Fairy Doll ballet, where each small dancer represented a doll, and in the advanced classical ballet form danced by older students.

With a final performance Sunday afternoon at the Nix Academy Studio in Watsonville, the spring recital group included performances from Wednesday through Saturday evenings at the Carmel Studio, for pupils from Carmel, Monterey and Salinas.

A seasonal tradition, the dance recitals offer the students an opportunity to become familiar with dancing under professional conditions of stage and lighting. Director Nix pointed out, which in turn becomes the background for the full ballet, staged each winter by the Academy.

Open only to parents and close friends because of the limited seating capacity of the Studio, each evening performance was culminated by a "punch and cookie" party on the stage.

MONTEREY MAKES OFFER FOR J. C. PROPERTY

In an informal meeting of the three peninsula school district boards in Monterey Monday, the Monterey board said that their district was prepared to sell the Monterey Peninsula Junior College to the proposed junior college district (to be made up of Monterey, Carmel and Pacific Grove school districts, if the plan goes through) for $760,941.31. This would involve a 5 cent tax for 20 years. Calvin Flint was asked to produce an estimate of improvements contemplated at the college which would require other bond issues.

The school boards have no power to act in the actual purchase since it will be under the authority of a junior college board of trustees, appointed by the county superintendent of schools, later elected by the junior college district.

Skin Diver Drowned In Carmel Bay Sunday

William Orner of South San Francisco drowned in Carmel Bay Sunday. A group of skin divers decided to swim off Carmel Point and the nineteen year old William joined them. At one point in the day he complained of the cold, and that he was returning to shore. The others never saw him alive again. When they returned to Carmel beach, he was not there.

The group of skin divers phoned the Carmel police department, who in turn called the Navy and procured a Navy helicopter. They also had a skiff on hand in case it was needed. Ronald May, one of the boys, finally found the body about 170 yards off shore. The helicopter brought it in.

determine if it should be removed. The council won applause from the Mayor of Eighty Acres and his commissioner when they unanimously refused Ethelinda M. James' request for trimming the eucalyptus at Mountain View and Torres. "It's a very pretty tree. There's no reason to trim it," said Councilman Jim Buffington. "See, I do like some eucalyptus trees," he added.

Councilman Buffington recommended that John J. Bray be given permission to replace a pittosporum with a pine but not to remove the beeches at the New Inn on San Carlos and Seventh.

In response to Mrs. Roland Scheffler's protest, the council explained that the oaks removed by the street department at Lincoln and Thirteenth were dead, and they instructed Street Superintendent William Askew to plant a tree "in the right of way." Traffic could move around it.

Mrs. Jessie Crain, who asked for widening of Thirteenth Street between Dolores and Lincoln to provide parking near her property was refused. Thirteenth is one of the few remaining typical old Carmel streets and the natural growth should not be disturbed, said council members.

Kenneth R. Lynch was denied permission to blacktop the total sidewalk area at his property at Monte Verde and Santa Lucia; he must leave enough planting area for four pine trees.

The Presbyterian Church was granted permission to build two step-ways which encroach on Junipero street providing the church purchases insurance that will protect the city in case of suit for injury or damage.

work done by a planning commission is too important to the community to be entrusted to an appointive body. It should be handled by an elective body, the council, which is in closer touch with the people.

Council protested that they had more work than they could handle as it is.

High point of the ruckus arrived when Councilman Whitaker proposed that a council member be appointed to the planning commission if they couldn't find anybody else within the city limits to serve.

Councilman John Chitwood pounced on that. "There was a councilman on the commission once and you objected, and if ever there was a man who served this city and served it well, it was Don Craig."

Hugh Smith has been in partnership with his father Everett Smith in the tree surgery business since 1950. He was born in Weed, California, near Mt. Shasta, where his father was a ranger in the United States Forest Service. In 1926-27 the family lived in King City. Everett Smith was promoted to District Ranger of the vast wilderness of the 250,000 acres of Los Padres National Forest. Hugh is no stranger to the Big Sur area and has become expert in dendrology himself.

The Smith family has lived in Carmel for almost thirty years, where Hugh attended local schools. His father was forester for Del Monte Properties Co., and at that time served as Carmel City Councilman and Mayor of Carmel. There was no high school here then, so Hugh went to Monterey High School, and Hartnell Junior College in Salinas. His studies at the University of California were interrupted by a three year hitch in the Navy, when Hugh served part of the time aboard the USS Hornet, the big aircraft carrier, as a fighter pilot.

To earn his B.S. degree in forestry, he enrolled in the University of Washington. While in Seattle he met Gyla Marmont from Shelby, Montana. They were married in her home town in 1949. They now have three children, Alesa, five; Virginia, three, and Randa who is two.

Hugh is still connected with the Navy. He has been in Naval Reserve Fighter Squadrons since 1946 flying jets. He is Operations Officer, third in Command, of his present squadron.

Last Monday night Hugh was elected to the board of the International Scholarship Committee, a local organization devoted to the aid of foreign exchange students. As a member of Carmel Rotary Club, he is the Scoutmaster of Troop 32 sponsored by the club.

Plans for the Monterey Peninsula branch include a writer's critique panel.

Active duty, retired and reserve military personnel, their dependents and Department of Defense civilian employees are eligible for membership.

The Time Has Come .

by Kippy Stuart

One of the hard questions to settle is what to use for bordering small garden beds. There are all sorts of materials to be had yet the easiest ones I know are seldom hit upon. The idea is to separate small plots from the rest of the garden. Carmel stone is popular yet not too easy to install. Rocks are heavy and require cement to insure durability.

The new home owner can look into his own trash pile left by the builders, and come up with suitable material. Redwood shakes make an excellent border. Even the shakes discarded by the builder can be utilized to form a garden border. Dig a small trench about four inches deep, drive the shakes into the trench, and fill with earth. Leave about six or seven inches of shakes above ground, cresting a crenulated, soft looking border.

I have heard arguments against installing shakes in the earth for the reason they may rot. Well, 16 years ago, I did this stunt around my house, and while occasionally one shake will give up the ghost, the majority have remained steady and decorative. To insure permanent shakes in the ground, dip them into discarded crank-case oil or lignite, and you will have material that will last your lifetime.

Other borders I have used in my garden are 2"x2" redwood stakes. Cut stakes into eighteen inch lengths, sharpen one end and drive into the ground. It is smart to dip stakes into motor oil or lignite, although I did not bother to do this, and after 16 years, the boarders are intact.

The use of redwood in gardens is recommended for frame houses rather than stucco or stone. The Carmel type home seems to call for the softening effect, rather than the rigid stone borders.

is redwood boards 1"x4", laid in a shallow trench lengthwise and held in place pickets cut from the same wood. When it comes to a lawn, it is smart to leave a trench at least five inches wide all around to grass plot to prevent stray grass invading garden beds.

These suggestions are made for the "do it yourself" home owner and the nice part of the whole deal is that it can be accomplished in off hours. No need to hurry. A few shakes at a time and before you know it, there you are, with your garden neat and your job done.

PETRIFIED FOREST NATIONAL PARK?

Word has been received that the president of an Arizona commercial organization has recently been in Washington, urging action in converting Petrified Forest National Monument into a national park. At last report no bill to that effect has been introduced into Congress but it can be assumed that if enough pressure is brought to bear on the Arizona congressional delegation, they will oblige by sponsoring such a bill sooner or later.

This situation raises two important questions that are of great interest to all friends of the national parks. The first concerns the relationship between national parks and national monuments, and the second has to do with the activities of commercial organizations whose members hope to profit financially from attracting crowds to the national parks in their vicinity. In the case of Petrified Forest both of these two questions have to be considered.

The first question was covered in an article by Devereux Butcher in National Parks Magazine for July-September 1956 entitled, "What is the Difference between National Parks and National Monuments?" Numerous examples of different parks and monuments were given and the difference between them explained. Briefly, national monuments are set aside by Presidential Proclamation in areas of outstanding scientific or historical interest under the Antiquities Act of 1906. Some of them happen also to have outstanding scenic qualifications but many of them do not and beauty of landscape is not a requisite.

National parks on the other hand are set aside by Act of Congress and scenic qualifications are the only ones considered. They are supposed to be of the highest type, though a few have crept into the system, such as Platt and Hot Springs, that are far below the usual standard. However, nowhere in Act of Congress are the scenic qualifications of national parks defined.

As for the second question, the presence of representatives of commercial organizations in Washington pressing for a bill of that kind is evidence enough that a profit motive is behind it. The city of Holbrook, being closest to Petrified Forest, would of course profit most from the increased travel that a national park would bring about. More prestige and therefore more effective advertising is attached to a national park than to a national monument. Other parts of Arizona would also profit to a lesser extent.

This situation emphasizes the greatest danger to our national park system today. The parks have been set aside as superlative examples of America's primitive unspoiled landscape, a kind of natural outdoor museum. They were never intended to be tourist traps, a means of stimulating the local economy. Yet time after time we find the pressure of resort planners influencing the administration of the parks, and more and more frequently we hear expressions from visitors to the parks, decrying the cheapened atmosphere resulting from this pressure.

Must our world-famous national park system be brought down to the common level of recreational parks, where amusement is the main incentive to visitors? The people of the United States who own them have the decision in their hands.

Langston Hughes' Musical Play Is A New York Hit

Simply Heavenly, a musical play by former Carmelite Langston Hughes, is causing excitement in dramatic circles in New York City. Reviewing the show for the New York Times, drama critic Brooks Atkinson says Simply Heavenly "is a rollicking variety show with songs written by David Martin and lyrics by the playwright, (Langston Hughes) full of high spirits for the sake of a good time."

Walter Kerr writing in the New York Herald Tribune also praises the show saying Simply Heavenly, "in its unpretentious and not at all sleeked up way sets a certain small but irresistible standard of its own. It is direct observation warmly recorded and glowingly played."

The New York Post's critic Richard Watts Jr. writes of Langston Hughes play, "Don't let anyone tell you warm-heartedness isn't a valuable quality in the theatre!" and continues "the song Did You Ever Hear The Blues is a complete delight, sung by Claudia McNeil with her wonderful deep voice."

Simply Heavenly is set in Paddy's Bar, a center of Harlem life. Into this hospitable haven wander all the varied characters of Langston Hughes' show. He has adapted the musical play from his folk novel of Harlem, Simple Takes a Wife. The book was compiled and adapted from a series of daily columns which Langston Hughes originally wrote for a negro newspaper.

Mr. Hughes first attracted nationwide attention through his published poetry, later turning to prose. His latest venture into drama is interesting to the friends he has made in Carmel during the 30's, when he lived here, and on frequent visits to his friend, the late Noel Sullivan. Langston Hughes, a negro, writes about his people with depth of feeling and warm understanding making his play "the festival" Brooks Atkinson calls it.

Norberg Agency Now Has Its Offices In The Pine Cone Bldg.

Gunnar Norberg says that in 1940 he came to Carmel for just one week end vacation and decided to live here. It was then that he opened his first travel agency in La Tiendas Building on Ocean Avenue. More recently the Norberg Travel Agency has been in Sundial Court. Last Monday, he moved to a new location, ground floor offices in the Pine Cone Building, east side of Dolores Street, between Seventh and Eighth, where he specializes in air and sea travel, and where one can buy a ticket to any part of the world.

His son, Eric, goes to Carmel High and his daughter, Karin, goes to Sunset School. Barbara, his wife, operates the Carmel Yarn Shop a block away on Seventh Street, and is interested in local dramatic productions. She helped her husband get the new offices ready for opening day, Monday.

Mr. Norberg was born in Minnesota, but went to college at Stanford, and lived in California for quite a while after his school years. He was feature writer and reporter for the Stanford daily, worked as a cub reporter for the Burlingame Advance, worked in Space selling for the Examiner, and was finally editor of College Forum, a publication of the Pacific Coast. With his reportorial experience he left California for a post as editor for a number of New York publications owned by Fawcett, and later, managing editor for the various magazines published by Erenberg Company. Mr. Norberg stayed in New York for five years. Some of the magazines he edited are still extant, such as Outdoor Life, Motion Picture and Radio Guide.

The Army called him away from his travel agency here in Carmel, and it was in service that his writing experience was put to use as editor of the Beeliner, an Army paper. He was released to work in the Office of International Affairs at Rockefeller Center, and also covered the United Nations Convention in San Francisco in 1945. His office was at the Fairmont where he saw State Department Officials, Arabian delegates and French officials.

He reopened his travel agency

SENATOR TICKLE SPEAKER FOR NEW PARTY

Edward H. Tickle, who represented Monterey County in the state senate, was invited to participate in the California Constitution Party Convention. Last Friday, this staunch Republican leader, gave the opening address before the delegates. Mr. Tickle says, "I have not changed my registration, but I am in sympathy with some of the party's principles." Because he "believes in our constitution" he accepted the invitation of the newly formed party, still in its incubation period.

Letters To The Editor

Carmel, California

Box 2233

May 27, 1957

Mrs. Wilma B. Cook, Editor
The Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Mrs. Cook:

In the May 23rd issue of The Pine Cone, the usual column by Mr. C. Edward Graves entitled "Conservation on the March" seemed to me to be of great significance.

In line with the upsurge of popular disapproval of President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget comes a closer scrutiny of its items, which discloses that the budget has been padded by "pork barrel" legislation, for which Congress, and not the President, is responsible.

As Mr. Graves points out, this padding can be clearly seen in the inclusion of authorization of Bruce's Eddy Dam in the Clearwater River basin of Idaho, a Corps of Engineers' project, before conservationists' studies of the area were completed. This authorization, placed in the "Omnibus" bill S. 497, which covers in one bill the dearest wish of every Congressman for his home town public works program, is impossible to veto separately. The only remedy is to shelve the whole bill, and it is good news that The American Farm Bureau has joined the growing demand that Congress shall do just that.

Mr. Graves suggests that all of us should write to our Congressmen urging them to defeat Senate Bill 497. I, for one, shall do so, not only because Mr. Graves is in a position to know the facts regarding Bruce's Eddy Dam, but also because I am well informed on another item in the same bill, namely Tuttle Creek Dam on the Blue River in Kansas, and know how completely it has been proven to be unjustified. Yet it will cost over $92,000,000 in taxes. A new appropriation for it is asked, in addition to the $21,000,000 already squandered.

Sincerely yours,
Charlotte A. Morton.

Honorable Tom Hudson
County Board of Supervisors
Monterey, California
Dear Mr. Hudson:

The delay in getting started sooner on facilities for the Carmel River Beach State Park has been due to anything other than a lack of interest. You are probably aware that we have two types of development projects, namely Major and Minor. The Major development funds can run for three years without reverting, while the Minor funds must be expended within the fiscal year. As the Carmel River Beach projects come under the Major classification, we have had to temporarily by-pass any immediate action in order to complete the many Minor projects that we currently had.

To answer your question, we are now preparing plans and specifications to get the Carmel River Beach projects underway. With any kind of success we hope to have the proposed installations in and ready for use sometime this coming fall.

We regret that this job could not have been completed earlier, but I am sure you can understand that those projects, having the July First, 1957, deadline necessarily had to be taken care of first.

Sincerely yours,
J. T. CHAFFEE

WATER

The Most Important Thing In Life

The basic need for life on earth is that water be available. And from this necessity was born the greatest single industry in this country—public water supply. Nothing short of a complete catastrophe can deprive the Monterey Peninsula of an ample supply of water. Although many other communities this summer will be faced with the possibility of a water shortage, the Peninsula does not have this anxiety.

Few communities are as fortunate in respect to the dependability of water supplies as those on the Monterey Peninsula. No price can be set on this wealth of water.

On this occasion, Parker was donating his 25th pint of blood.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

The last day of school is approaching on running or creeping feet, depending upon whether you are an adult or a child, and it is time we outlined to you the reading program for this summer. It is to be called The Golden Key Club; and reading a certain number of books the member will earn a small pin made in the shape of a golden key. These pins are appropriate for both boys and girls, and are well worth earning and wearing with pride. The name of the club is taken from a couple of lines written by Andrew Lang in his Ballade of the Bookworm. He said,

"The Love of Books, the Golden Key,
That Opens the Enchanted Door."

The form of the key acts as a talisman all through the reading program. By reading five books and reporting to the Children's Librarian, the club member has his name written on a large white key which is then hung in the children's room. After reading another five books, the member's name is written on a silver key, which replaces the white one. After reading another five books his name is written on a golden key, and he receives his pin to wear. It may be that we will continue the club through the school year, if the members wish us to do so.

We hope that the children's room will be glittering with these gay keys and that the children participate in the club will enjoy their summer with books. Saturday morning will be the meeting morning as usual, and there will be story hours at ten, also as usual. Send your children to these Saturday story hours if they have not progressed beyond the third grade in school, and encourage all sizes of them to join the reading club. The pins are very good looking and every member should be able to earn one, even if he is gone for a while on some vacation jaunt.

A quick look at a few adult books, as lines allow. A book which is particularly timely right now is The Great Giveaway by Eugene Castle. Subtitle of the book is The Realities of Foreign Aid. The author is a native of San Francisco and has a record of long experience as a reporter and producer of news films. In this book he tries to assess the foreign aid program with an unbiased eye. The results are informative and may be surprising to many of us.

Operation Deepfreeze by Admiral Dufek is the story of Navy Task Force 43 and the antarctic explorations made under the command of Admiral Dufek as part of our activities for the Geophysical Year. Dufek was the first man to land in a plane at the South Pole. His book has a series of photographs which show the breathtaking beauty of the vast icy regions of antarctica.

For those people who are on a low fat diet for any reason at all, there is a new cookbook by Evelyn Stead which is entitled Low-Fat Cookery. Recipes are here for everything from soup to dessert and beverage, and for every recipe there is a table of fat content. A very good book.

Included in this week's new novels is one about John Paul Jones, written by Harvey Haislip and entitled, A Sailor Named Jones. There is also Noel Gerson's new one which is called, Conqueror's Wife, and is the story of William the Conqueror and his wife the Lady Matilda.

Oh yes, we have the take-off on how to do it books which is called How to Build an Orange Crate from Old Pieces of Furniture. It was written by Jack Culett, and besides the piece on the orange crates, there are other clever things which deal with certain phases of our modern civilization. Don't miss this one.

Los Padres Forest Takes Over "Swap" Hunter-Liggett Land

Nearly 26,000 acres of land along the coast south of Big Sur, suitable for recreational purposes, became available Tuesday in an exchange of lands between Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation and Los Padres National Forest.

The swap was made possible through provisions of a bill sponsored by Congressman Charles M. Teague and enacted last year.

Tuesday the forest service informed Congressman Teague they are ready to take over, without delay, administration of the lands acquired from the army.

This exchange opens to the public wild and beautiful coast and mountain areas that are desirable for hunting, fishing, and hiking. The land taken by the army in exchange is inland, has less appeal as a recreational area, but is more suited to military needs.

Radio Licenses For Carmelites

Carmel residents Marion R. Parker, Florelle E. Gant, Sonia M. Brown, Louise W. Busic, and Lester V. Fletcher volunteered for a Radiological Monitor Training Course beginning in the month of February, and just completed on May 29. They received their certificates and are now licensed to use the radio telephone by the Federal Communication Commission, in the event of fire, nuclear fallout, flood or earthquake disasters. The course was given at the Naval Postgraduate School, and the same course will be repeated in future weeks for those volunteers who may be interested in enrolling.

Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Garguiolo, Sr. were reunited with their son and daughter-in-law briefly when they went to Phoenix, Arizona, upon returning from a trip through the Panama Canal and Europe.

William, Jr. has been at American Institute of Foreign Trade at Thunderbird Field, Phoenix, Arizona, and on May 29 he graduated. While studying there he specialized in Latin American countries. He already has a contract with Mead Johnson, Inc. to work in trade and business in Latin America. His wife and daughter will accompany him.

They will once again see their families in Carmel, then leave for Mexico where William, Jr. will pursue further studies this summer.

Among the places the senior Garguiolos visited were London, Antwerp, Paris, Nice, Capri, San Remo, Naples and Cannes. Switzerland appealed to them especially, and also Italy. They will be leaving for Tahoe after their son leaves Carmel.

Granfields Gone

Mr. and Mrs. John Granfield left this Wednesday for a vacation in Paradise, a town near Chico. Mr. Granfield said, "We wanted to visit Paradise before we had to go there permanently." They thought it an opportune time to get away from their busy schedule, because they are having the kitchen of their Tuck Box Restaurant enlarged, new stoves and equipment put in, so that it will be closed for a week. It will open again Tuesday.

Bob Barry Was In Town

Bob Barry dropped in to pick up his sixteen months old boy, Bruce, whom he had left with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Barry. He left Bruce there while he and his wife, Pidgie, and his boy Stevie, going on five years of age, went on a two weeks' dude ranch vacation in Santa Barbara. When Bob came back to Carmel, he was "just getting over" a breakfast ride. The family will return to San Jose, and Bob will be back at his desk in the Advertising Department of the San Jose Mercury News.

On Wednesday, Nancy of Carmel, with her associate Joyce Bishop, will give a demonstration of a method of making leaf prints. She will show the simplicity of the method, which uses natural leaves, block print paints on Japanese rice paper, applied with a block print brayer, resulting in charming prints with a Japanese flavor. The artists will show some completed work as well as demonstrating the process. Tea will be served.

Susan Hirst To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hirst of Carmel have announced the engagement of their daughter, Susan Lee Hirst to Robert Edward Savage. She will be married in All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel at 4:00 o'clock on the afternoon of August 3. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Savage of Millinocket, Maine.

The attendants are all Susan's classmates. Susan before graduation from Stanford was elected to the Cap and Gown. She was born in Manila, Philippine Islands, where her parents were long time residents. Her grandmother, Mrs. Alfred B. Hirsch, is a member of a pioneer Alameda County family. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hirst are her paternal grandparents.

Robert is a graduate of the University of Maine where he was affiliated with Theta Chi Fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Savage and the late Mr. and Mrs. Crawford are his grandparents.

Edith Griffin Sailed Abroad

Miss Edith Griffin sailed on May 30 from New York on one of the Cunard ships. She will be in London for several weeks. She may stay longer depending on her itinerary when she arrives.

For years she operated the Village Bookshop on Ocean Avenue. She first stayed with her nephew in Denver, Colorado. Col. Gale Cummings. Before sailing date she visited her niece in Croton-on-Hudson in upstate New York. She may stay in Europe three months or six months, depending on her mood.

On A Trek To The Mother Lode

Donald McKenzie of Carmel Valley is one of 240 from all over California and Hawaii who will be on the sixteenth annual trek of the Sonoma County Trailblazers. The horsemen met at Elk Creek, near Willows in Glenn County last Tuesday. By the time they return Monday they will have forded streams, climbed mountains and explored forests that have never seen man-made cars.

Many tons of equipment will have been used to feed 240 men and 300 animals. At night at the campfires the men will enjoy impromptu entertainment.

Yancy James Home

Barbara James and her two children welcomed her husband, Yancy James, after a one and a half year absence from the James' Carmel Woods home. He can only stay here for two weeks because his work as resident engineer takes him to the Alaskan sector of Distant-Early-Warning line (known as DEW-line) where he is stationed in a civilian capacity. He arrived home on May 31.

Genia To Marry, Helen Engaged

Mrs. Douglas Beattie will have a busy summer with her daughter, Genia Carol, being married to Lieutenant William E. Simpson, U. S. Air Force, on June 20 in St. John's Chapel, Del Monte; and another daughter, Helen Margaret, planning a September wedding in the same church to Harry Lee Munsinger of Fort Ord.

Helen Margaret's engagement was announced by her mother last week. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Munsinger of Red Bluff. He graduated from the University of California in January and, when he has completed his two years' army duty, plans to study and teach psychology. He was affiliated with Theta Xi fraternity at Cal.

Helen Margaret graduated from Pomona College and has been doing a year's postgraduate work in public health at the University of California. This summer she will work in the clinical laboratory at the Salinas Hospital.

Genia graduates from Pomona this June. She will be married to Bill Simpson by the Reverend Charles Brandon, rector of the Porterville Episcopal Church, assisted by the Reverend Bernard Lovgren, rector of St. John's, Del Monte. Mrs. Beattie will give her daughter in marriage and attendants will be her sister, Helen Margaret, as maid of honor and another sister, Patricia Virginia, a sophomore at the College of the Pacific, as bridesmaid. Her youngest sister, Cynthia, will share junior bridesmaid duties with the future groom's sister, Rita Simpson of Porterville. Best man will be Lieutenant Stewart Johnson of Glendale.

The reception following the wedding will be in the Copper Cup Room at the Navy Postgraduate School. After a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, the young couple will live in Alabama where Bill reports July 1 to Craig Air Force Base. Bill graduated from the University of California last year with a degree in architecture. His parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson of Porterville.

Former Residents Moved

The John W. Blaney's lived in Carmel for these past three years, but last Saturday was moving day for them when they settled in their Seattle home. Before settling down they sailed to Honolulu, then came back to drive through Mexico, visiting Acapulco, Culiacan, Guadalajara, Mexico City and other towns. They drove through Texas and stayed in Carmel for two weeks, and finally drove up to Seattle two weeks ago.

Pappy Back To Work

On Wednesday Carmel bus riders were driven around town by Ernest T. Wood, whom they call "Pappy", after his three weeks of absence. He went fishing with some of the other men from Bay Rapid Transit Co., and slipped on a rock. They brought him home from Carmel Valley with a fractured shoulder.

Last Monday his physician removed the cast and Pappy was permitted to work again on Wednesday.

Ann Clark Engaged

An early summer wedding is planned by Ann Clark of Carmel and Lieutenant Robert W. Arn of the Naval Postgraduate School. Their engagement was announced last week.

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Soquel, California. She is currently working at the Village Shoe Tree.

Lieutenant Arn is a postgraduate student in engineering at the Navy School, and a graduate of Annapolis. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Arn of Kenton, Ohio.

Among the pre-nuptial parties planned for Ann is a shower to be given by Sherlie Patterson and Mrs. Clark Wozencraft. Following their summer wedding Ann and Bob will live in Carmel, while Lieutenant Arn continues his studies at Del Monte.

Paul Plays Silverado

Off on vacation, Paul Mercurio sends a postcard from Calistoga, saying he played the Silverado Golf Course Wednesday. "Very fine course, nice pretty trees and all. Regards to the Boys."

Newton Goodrich Is Back

An old friend is back at work on the Pine Cone. He is Newton Goodrich, who worked in the Pine Cone shop for seven years, starting his apprenticeship in 1948. He grew up in Carmel, attended Sunset School and graduated from Carmel High School.

He left here, a journeyman printer, in 1954 to work for the San Jose Mercury for three years, but when he learned that there was an opening for him on the Pine Cone, he took it, and said he was glad to come home again.

While in San Jose he met Norrine Parker to whom he is engaged. The wedding will take place on July 27.

Julie Mayer Wins Awards

Julie Mayer, senior English major at Carleton College in Minnesota, has won two awards for her contribution to the college magazine, Manuscripts. She is the daughter of Carmel writer, Milton Mayer, and Mrs. Mayer.

Julie shares the $50 Huntington poetry prize with one fellow student, the $50 Class of 1885 prize for prose works, with another. These honors were awarded on the overall basis of the year's work, as well as efforts submitted especially for the contest.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Poche Leave

Lieutenant and Mrs. Poche are leaving Carmel on June 26 after a year's stay here. They hate to leave, and have even bought a lot in Carmel Valley, so they plan to return. Lt. Poche has been studying at the Naval Postgraduate School since their arrival. He has been a jet flyer for the Navy. His ship USS Ticonderoga is just now sailing around Cape Horn; Lt. Poche will rejoin her in Alameda, and from there the Ticonderoga leaves for Pacific waters.

Mrs. Jessica Gilby plans to be back in Carmel in September. She has been spending the past two years in England but is now on a two weeks' trip to Holland to see the tulips in bloom.

Gwen Bevard Married

Gwendolyn Bevard became Mrs. Howard J. Schureman last Friday at 8:00 o'clock in the evening, at Church of the Wayfarer, with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray as the officiating clergyman.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schureman are from Eugene, Oregon, originally. They met at the University of Oregon. Later when Howard was inducted, and was stationed at Fort Ord, his fiancée came to Carmel, where she has been employed at the Pine Inn.

The sponsors at the wedding of the young couple were Miss Jan Ford and Mr. Louis Waters, also of Carmel.

On June 15 the Schuremans will leave Carmel for Fort McClellan, Alabama. Mrs. Schureman says, "We were glad we could be married in Carmel and hope to return for our anniversary."

Schultzes Have Kitten Trouble

Lt. Milton Schultz has completed his one year course of graduate work at the Naval Postgraduate School. He and Mrs. Schultz left for Washington, D.C. yesterday, but Tuesday they spent all day trying to give away three calico kittens. The children in their neighborhood helped them by ringing doorbells around their block until the sun set at 9:00 o'clock. Early Wednesday morning Milton gave the kittens to a pet shop. The mother cat is traveling to Washington, D.C. with the Schultz.

KENNETH REXROTH TO READ POETRY AT RING'S

Kenneth Rexroth is on the peninsula this weekend. He will read some of his works at Ring's on Abrego Street in Monterey at 2:00 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The San Francisco poet is visiting his Carmel friends, the Milton Mayers, the Ephraim Doners, the Russell Williams, and in Big Sur, with the Henry Millers.

Mr. Rexroth, fond of San Francisco, considers that it is the Paris of the West, and has so stated in his recent article in The Nation. He feels that the bay city is the only possible city in America where young people can express themselves in both work and creative fields.

His book of poems, The Dragon and The Unicorn, are a comprehensive study of the European countries as he sees them. There is a new pocket book by Rexroth about Henry Miller coming out next month. He has also done translations in Chinese, French and other languages as well as producing many poems for all of the literary magazines. He has invited other poets to his home and encourages students and others interested to hear their readings.

Kenneth Rexroth twice has been awarded the Guggenheim Fellowship. He has a regular program on station KPFA-FM originating in Berkeley. Some Carmelites subscribe to KPFA-FM and may be aware of his poetry readings on this station.

Several of his poems concern life in the city, how people behave at parties, and sea poems. The public is invited to come to Ring's restaurant to hear these works. There will be a small charge for admittance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The completeness and perfection of God's creation will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the Lesson-Sermon topic. Bible selections to be read include the following from Jeremiah (51:10): "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (275:17): "No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

The Golden Text is from Revelation (4:11): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Amateur Show June 15

On June 15 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening the Carmel Kiwanis Club is offering an Amateur Show comprised of talent in Monterey County. The winner will receive a $100 Scholarship and a gift certificate from California Music House. Second prize is a $25 savings bond.

Any young people who wish to participate in this performance must not miss the last tryout this Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Monterey USO. Registration is open to any amateur entertainer accompanied by a parent or adult; an entry fee of one dollar is to be charged for each act.

Hal Armor, president of the Kiwanis Club, invites the public to both the semi-finales and the final Variety Show in Sunset Auditorium. For the final show there will be a small charge.

The first try-out on May 26 sifted out first place winner Judy Gustafson. Second place was Judy Cooper accompanied by guitarist Hank March.

There was another semi-final audition last Sunday night when six winners were to be chosen; actually, several ties made the total more than six. One of these was Lindy Paplow from Carmel, who played Sarabande on the violin accompanied by her sister, Judy Paplow.

The judges are Mrs. Walter C. Adams, Charlotte Collins, Louise McCluskey and Orville Rogers who picked first place winner Judy Gustafson from Salinas again on the second tryout, and tie-winners Gus and Jan Bruno from Monterey. Second was Bab Prieheim; third choice, a quartet from Pacific Grove High, the Gutekunst Sisters, and tying for third place, Donna Loving. And six more are to be chosen this Sunday, making a long evening on the fifteenth of June, representing a cross section of talent.

1000th Loma Prieta Member

The Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club, which includes in its roster many local residents, welcomed its 1000th member recently. This chapter is one of eleven scattered throughout California, the Pacific northwest and the east, with a combined total membership of over 10,000 persons interested in the conservation, exploration and enjoyment of our scenic areas.

During the past month, members enjoyed three knapsack trips in the mountains south of Monterey to Pico Blanco, Lost Valley and across the range from Arroyo Seco to the coast, in addition to a shorter one-day hike.

On May 18-19 over 80 persons participated in the chapter's annual party at Asilomar. The summer schedule of the chapter trips is now off the press and may be consulted at local libraries, or further information obtained from local trip leaders.

Poetry Class Results

Olivia Young invited Grove Becker to read her class of poets on May 27. Last April Grove read some of his works at the Cherry Foundation, when Mrs. Carl Cherry invited him to participate in a workshop with the audience listening and discussing his poetry. Mr. Becker accompanies some of his poems on the guitar. His impressions of old men at night and roaring rivers in the Sierra were a source of pleasure for the students.

Eighteen members of the class went to the home of Dora Hagemeyer, Pine Cone Poetry Editor, May 28. Mrs. Hagemeyer reviewed Directions in the Sun by Big Sur poet Eric Barker. Both Becker and Barker have had their works published in the "little" magazines of quality. Dora Hagemeyer has published a number of poetry books.

With all of the inspiration of the Carmel area people, Olivia Young's class has come up with a book called Painters of Words. It represents the culmination of the term's experiences, printed by pupils in Carmel High, the cover is illustrated with a palette with letters, not colors, and a pen, not a brush. The title page: Poems by the Class in Poetry — Olivia Young instructor — Carmel Adult School — 1957. The authors' credit page: Lydia Howe Smith, Alice Askew, Dorothy Alice Hastings, Dagny Banker, Jacob Harvey McCartney, Valerie Hattery, Alice Longaker, Lois Wilson, Betty Norris, Frances Romer Gordon, Robert Bunney, Elinor Porter, Verna Fassio, Verne Cole and Laura Janet Larson.

League Has Meeting

A meeting of the Carmel League of Women Voters will be held at 12:00 o'clock, June 13 at the Girl Scout House on Lincoln Street. The public is welcome. People may bring a picnic lunch, but the club women will provide coffee and cookies.

Delegates from the San Francisco Convention of the League will report on their findings. Mrs. Richard Eldred will introduce the new board members who are: Mrs. Edwin Bliss, Mrs. J. B. Speller, Mrs. Don McKenzie and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey.

The third order of business will be a discussion on the Monterey Peninsula College led by Mrs. Alphonse Ellyn and Dr. Isabella Abbott, co-chairmen of the study group on junior colleges.

Nursery School Exercises

The Bay School, under the direction of Rosa Doner, participated in a graduation ceremony with other nurseries. Ruth Ford, who does the choreography for the Wharf Players, led the Bay School youngsters in a modern impressionistic dance last Tuesday afternoon at Big Sur. South of Carmel there are a number of schools which took part in the ceremonies: Pfeiffer School at Palo Colorado, Highlands School and others in the Big Sur area.

Bay School is 80 years old, located on Route One, and is now under the Carmel Adult Education System, so that 25 parents work in a cooperative to conduct school activities. Rosa Doner has a Master's Degree from Columbia University, receiving her teacher training at Banks Street School, a branch of Columbia. She helps the parents and they teach the children.

Student Recital

Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand presented three of her piano pupils in a formal recital at her studio home last Tuesday evening. The program opened with a short informative talk by Mrs. Hildebrand on Practical Piano Playing and was continued by the pupils, who played solos and duets demonstrating the progress made in their study of the piano.

After the musical part of the evening, refreshments were served and pictures taken of the young ladies in their pretty formals with their arms full of flowers.

The pupils presented were Miss Nancy Thomas, Miss Denise Goto and Miss Kayte Maxey.

Mrs. Reed Has Left

Mrs. Helen Reed, wife of the late Judge Charles Reed of Fresno and Sangor, and mother of Mrs. Perry Miller, left Carmel on June 1 to stay in San Francisco. She has been visiting the Perry Millers and granddaughter Melinda, age one, during the months of April and May. She is going to be with some of Mrs. Miller's cousins while in the city.

Perry Miller, manager of Minick Transfer and Storage Co., has taken over the business of his father, Mr. Leo F. Miller of Carmel Woods.

Jean Ariss Sells Book

Jean Ariss, wife of Artist Bruce Ariss, has sold her book, first in England to Hamilton Hamish Publishers and after that to Harper's in this country. The book is titled The Quick Years and is about farm life in Napa, California, where she grew up.

Bruce did the murals for Brucia's Tavern, the decorations for the Tortilla Flat Party at the old Hotel Del Monte, and wrote a play about Big Sur Life. While Jean stays in Monterey to write, Bruce commutes to Oakland to work in an advertising agency. But on weekends he comes back and paints murals for Angelo's Restaurant.

John Neikirk

John H. Neikirk of Carmel died in Palo Alto on Wednesday of either a stroke or heart attack. Police say that while driving his car shortly before 8:00 o'clock in the morning he apparently suffered a seizure.

Mr. Neikirk has been a resident of Carmel for 30 years and was associated with the late Hugh Comstock as a consulting contractor, and supervising engineer. He was general manager for Cal-Adobe, a promotional subsidiary of Foster & Kleiser Co., in Carmel in the years immediately following World War II.

He was born in Chicago in 1903. He came to California, attended Palo Alto High School and Stanford University.

He was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church. His survivors are his wife, Myra, an adopted son, George Straub, a stepson, Gerald Ray of Mexico City, and a son, John Neikirk of Carmel, his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Neikirk of Grass Valley, two sisters and four brothers.

Sally Robinson

Mrs. Sally Woods Robinson died on June 2 in Oakland, California after a six months illness. She was born in Warren, Ohio in 1886.

A Carmel resident for 25 years, Mrs. Robinson has left many friends here. Her house on Dolores Street was purchased by the All Saints' Episcopal Church for use as a Sunday School building, but many Carmel residents will remember when Mrs. Robinson lived there.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Byington Ford of Carmel Valley and Mrs. E. C. Lipman of Oakland, and three grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.

Private services were held at Chapel of the Chimes in Oakland.

Michael Bingham

Michael Hinshaw Bingham, 18, drowned May 26 while skindiving at Mazatlan, Mexico. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sally Bingham of Carmel, his father Hamilton Bingham of Santa Barbara, and his brother Anthony Bingham of Carmel.

He was a former student of Robert Louis Stevenson School at Pebble Beach.

Private funeral services were held on June 4 at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Burial took place in the family plot in El Carmelo Cemetery at Pacific Grove.

PINE CONE HAS VISITORS

Mrs. Myra Mylar, teacher at Woods School, wanted her children to learn more about the workings of a newspaper, so she walked her class to the Pine Cone Wednesday afternoon. Thirty-two third grade children watched the press and Intertypes in action and visited the editorial offices.

Mr. Richard O'Connell, principal of Woods and River Schools, popped in later for fun.

Roney's Have Son

Mr. and Mrs. James Roney of Lilac Lane, Carmel Valley, are now the parents of a son born on last Monday at the Peninsula Community Hospital.
